

The countdown to Christmas was simply magic for hundreds of Rhyl families.

Little ones were treated to a free party with music, fun and games and visits from Father Christmas and two fun-filled festive robins.

Rhyl Town Council organised the Christmas cracker which was held at Rhyl Town Hall. Just one of several events held in the town in the countdown to the big day, Rockin' Rhyl featured children's entertainer Lozo who kept the children entertained.

Rhyl mayor Cllr Ellie Chard said: "Rockin' Rhyl was a lovely way for little ones to start the Christmas period with plenty to keep them happy and visits from some very special guests.

"We'd also like to thank the White Rose shopping centre for providing free goodies for the children which really helped out Father Christmas at his busiest time of year.

"The town council has been behind a wide range of community activities this year and, once again, we were delighted to see so many people enjoying themselves."

The town council's next event will be on Saturday January 25 to mark St Dwynwen's Day - the Welsh equivalent of Valentine's Day.

"We will be starting the new year by giving out special limited-edition gifts made just for Rhyl to mark St Dwynwen's Day - watch this space!" added Cllr Chard.
